

Give Your University Application an Edge

*How do you make your application stand out?

In this hands-on workshop, you will be guided step-by-step through the completion of the Common Application and learn:

- How to present your credentials in the most favourable light
- How to convince an admissions committee you will make its university a more diverse, exciting and interesting place.
- Practical hints on writing essays, presenting extra-curricular activities, completing electronic applications and strategizing your applications.

Norman S. Smith, Ed.D., the workshop leader, has helped students successfully plan their post-secondary educations in the United States for more than 25 years. He holds memberships in the National Association for College Admission Counseling, the Higher Education Consultants' Association, the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development and the Ontario School Counsellors' Association.
